United Way of Weld County President & CEO

United Way of Weld County is a local, independent nonprofit organization serving Weld County residents. Our mission is to improve the lives of people by mobilizing the caring power of our community. We focus on the areas of Education, Financial Stability and Health, to help bring real, positive change to our communities.

We believe our community is strong and that we all succeed when a child is ready to learn at school, when a youth graduates with the life skills for success, when individuals and families are helped through times of crisis and challenges and move toward achieving health and financial stability. United Way achieves this by:
1. funding and supporting a robust partner agency network.
2. providing and managing direct service programs and access to services.
3. providing leadership and collaboration on county-wide concerns.
4. initiating new partnerships.

Thanks to the generosity, investment and contributions of individuals, businesses, employees, and private and public organizations, we work to support and bring together a network of services that accomplish more than what any one single agency can do. We are committed to accountability, transparency, outcomes and results, integrity, volunteer engagement, leadership, collaboration and excellence in nonprofit management.
United Way of Weld County began as the Greeley Community Chest in 1940. Over time, it has been renamed and restructured, ultimately becoming United Way of Weld County.

United Way of Weld County is an independent, local nonprofit 501(c)3 organization that is part of a network of almost 1,800 independent United Ways which was founded in Denver in 1887 as a collaborative organization addressing the city’s social welfare needs.

Today’s United Way improves lives in the areas of education, financial stability and health. United Way of Weld County does this in a way that engages community members and volunteers in all aspects of the organization and process. We improve lives and work to bring real, positive change through intentional community impact efforts.
Jay Hinrichs  2015-16 United Way of Weld County Board Chairman

Everyone has a different view or perspective when they think about the United Way of Weld County. I think about a local hometown organization, in touch with what is going on all over our vast communities and a team of professionals and volunteers responding to the needs of Weld County. I think about engaged community members acting as a Board of Directors leading and directing the coordinated and energized objectives of the professional staff and fantastic volunteers in reaching their goals and objectives. We live here, we give here and care deeply about our communities.

We celebrated our 75th anniversary as the United Way of Weld County this year. We have set our goals high and the United Way of Weld County continues to operate in a solid financial position, and our 2015-16 campaign was very successful thanks to the generosity of many in our county. It’s people doing their part in making their community great. However, our human service needs continue to escalate all over Weld County and we must collectively increase local support and mobilize the community to move forward.

Great things don’t just happen. I think they begin with making a choice to make a difference. Great things are intentional, they are directed. If we all work together through the community impact strategic initiatives, we can support and build a strong community for all. Please share the messages in this annual report with your friends, family, business associates and neighbors to spread the word about the United Way of Weld County.

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the United Way of Weld County, I want to sincerely thank you for your financial support, your volunteerism and your advocacy. Thank you for joining us to Live United, collaborating to connect communities, respond to local needs and proactively seek solutions to community issues. Your support in so many ways allows the United Way of Weld County to focus on increasing our level of impact in the areas of Education, Health and Financial Stability.

It has certainly been my pleasure to lead the Board of Directors for the past three years and be a member of the Board for seven years.

United Way of Weld County (UWWC) helps community members make large and small investments in Weld County becoming its best in the areas of Education, Financial Stability, Health and Access to Services through four methods:

- Funds and supports nearly 100 programs offered by partner agencies
- Provides and manages 15 direct-service programs
- Collaborates on county-wide solutions for community-wide challenges
- Partners with other organizations to offer shared programming to achieve common goals

While donor investments in the Collaborates and Partners methods are the most far-reaching and arguably important, they are the least visible since UWWC is in a facilitating and guiding role. Making UWWC’s efforts in these areas better known is essential for the good of Weld County’s most vulnerable residents.

Weld’s Way Home is an evolving collaboration being led by UWWC. It began in 2012 with a yearly effort to provide cold weather shelter to those experiencing homelessness; now it is a long-term strategic plan that will mobilize thousands of volunteer hours and millions of dollars.

Realizing Independence Through Education (RITE) is a partnership hosted at UWWC. Initiated by the 19th Colorado Judicial District as a means to help foster care youth make a successful transition to adulthood, the RITE program now serves vulnerable youth generally, including life skills training, housing support, addiction recovery, and more.

What makes the Collaborates and Partners methods different? Often a partnership begins as a collaboration. Over time, participating agencies decide the initiative should have an ongoing existence and needs a formal agreement. When such a document is signed, Collaborations becomes Partnerships.

Leading and participating in collaborations and partnerships are not a must for a United Way. Nevertheless, for many years UWWC has been available as a collaborator and partner, leading in a variety of ways. Further examples are numerous. The 2000 founding of Promises for Children and its ongoing early childhood focus. The 2008 Windsor tornado and 2013 northern Colorado flood recovery efforts. The Weld Refugee Collaboration. UWWC leads because the leadership need exists and it can create capacity to respond.

“This is not your grandmother’s United Way,” is a phrase you might hear on any given day in UWWC offices.

Truly. Today’s United Way is a multi-faceted, multi-focused effort. Yes, just like any United Way, through raising money and investing it in its own programs and those at community agencies, UWWC achieves outcomes in the focus areas mentioned above. Plus, we Collaborate and Partner because Weld County needs it. In short, UWWC uses its capacity and energy in a variety of ways to help Weld County be its best.
Accountability

Our goal is to make an impact on our community through collaboration and outcomes-based programs and services. The financial transparency and health of our organization are paramount.

This partnership will help improve the availability and quality of child care in our community.

CORPORATE PARTNERSHIPS 2015-16

Cornerstone Partner Program The commitments of our corporate and community partners are integral to our success. We’re proud of the partnership we have with local companies who have chosen to designate their corporate gifts of at least $5,000 to help underwrite operating costs (This gift can be cash or in-kind, so long as the in-kind donation replaces an operating expense, administrative and fundraising expenses). With the help of these Cornerstone Partners as well as many volunteers, we’re proud to report that our administrative and fundraising costs are just 16.2%, one of the lowest of major charities and agencies in our community. This special recognition program ensures that money donated by individuals goes directly to helping people.
