October 2019

Dear Friend,

In 2019-2020 United Way of Weld County will add over $4 million in value to Weld County human services efforts, helping vulnerable households in five focus areas: Early Childhood Education, Youth Success, Household Stability, Older Adult & Healthy Aging and Access to Services. Here you will find out where this money will be invested. See the preceding page for a graphical representation of these investments.

Because this is your United Way, these are your investments. United Way makes the most of your money through mobilizing decision-making volunteers, assessing and managing programs, securing grants for needed community work, and maximizing return on investment by catalyzing and coordinating collaborations and partnerships.

At United Way of Weld County we have three categories of work in which volunteers—our board of directors and investment committees—invest community dollars:

- Provides: Like other nonprofit organizations, UWWC provides and manages direct service programs when there is a need in the community and UWWC has the capacity to respond.
- Collaborates: UWWC collaborates with nonprofit organizations, government entities, businesses, and the community to bring about county-wide solutions.
- Partners: UWWC funds and supports a robust partner agency network, maximizing the impact of resources to address community-identified needs.

Enclosed you will see the results of all of our United Way investment processes and the kinds of community work that is being done in 2019-2020. These processes* include:

- Collective Impact Fund (CIF) – includes a 2-year commitment to each agency program
- Designations (D) – donors earmark donations for agencies other than United Way of Weld County
- Direct Services (DS) – programs managed by United Way of Weld County employees
- Emergency Food and Shelter Program (EFSP) – available for emergency livelihood programs
- Foundation/Government Grants (FG) – garnered by United Way and used for direct service provision
- Fort Lupton Family Resource Center (FL) – subsidized office and common space for human services agencies
- Program Revenue (PR) – earned income from United Way activities, i.e. event registration
- Recreation Scholarships (RS) – supports recreation participation by under-resourced youth
- Special Grants (SG) – addresses timely and specific community needs
- UWWC AmeriCorps VISTA Project (VP) – places year-long and summer-time employees at agencies to alleviate poverty
- Youth Leadership Council (YLC) – investments made by high school students

If you are interested in seeing the impact of many of the below-listed programs, please visit the Thriving Weld Dashboard (www.thrivingweld.com). Across agencies and efforts we are striving to bring about measurable and long-term results in all that we do. The Thriving Weld Dashboard is a catalyzing influence for this, as well as for the emergence of a collective impact movement in Weld County. As we move toward collective impact, we are looking beyond collaboration to a coordinated effort that includes a common agenda, mutually reinforcing activities, a shared measurement system, continuous communication, and backbone support. The Thriving Weld Dashboard provides this shared measurement system, and allows you to see how successful agencies are in achieving their program goals, and how well we are all working together on our common agenda.

Another way you can check in on our work is through the Better Business Bureau. United Way of Weld County and all agencies funded through the Collective Impact Fund have gone through the BBB Wise Giving Alliance review, which evaluates agencies against 20 Standards for Charity Accountability. This evaluation helps donors make informed giving decisions and promotes high standards of conduct. To learn more, all reports can be found on www.give.org.

Additionally, United Way of Weld County has achieved GuideStar’s Platinum Level philanthropic transparency rating, a 4-star score with Charity Navigator, and has United Way Worldwide’s Member in Good Standing status.

This is the work we do. This is the work you do. If you have not recently, would you join us in this important work by volunteering your time or making a generous contribution to United Way of Weld County?

Living United,
